UTILITY EMPLOYEES ANNOYING!

RUDENESS TO PUBLIC PREVAILS

An Editorial

(On the front page, after the manner of William Randolph Hearst—'way after).

Rob Wagner says, (and if Brisbane, Carr, or McIntyre could only say things as succinctly) in last week's 'Script" that Socialism is here, but that we, at present, are swallowing it in sugar coated doses.

He remembers the time when a holler was put up about "educating the masses" as being too dangerous . . . . and how toll roads were accepted things.

And then asks what it would be like to go back to such old fashioned, high handed ways.

You are right, Rob, as always. But there is one old fashioned, high-handed, autocratic and boorish gang of cut throat slobs still at loose in our fair, and almost socialistic land. The menials who work for the Public Utilities Corporations. (Let us say at this time that we DO NOT refer to Lloyd Weer of the P. G. & E, who is a gentlemanly exception proving the rule). These eggs, Rob, are worse than the average flatfoot who suddenly becomes a detective. Incidentally, all our Water, Gas and Light bills are paid. They treat the average homo sapiens as if all said homo sapiens were just plain saps. And the little daisies at the head and in the office of the Monterey County Water Works are just the babies we mean. Have you got 'em in Beverly Hills, too, Rob?

—P. O'C.

BIG PIRATE BALL HELD

Tripping the light fantastic under a canopy of beauteous melody, Carmel's elite were winded and wined, at a beautiful ball given for the Pirates of Penzance t'other eve at the Mission hall by Mesdames Pinkham.

Amongst said elite were Dr. and Mrs. Matzke, Arthur Gunderson, Herbert Heron, Mr. and Mrs. Bunch, Frank and Mrs. Sheridan and Sheridan fils, Dr. and Mrs. Staniford and Staniford fils, ye ed et ux, and many other charming people. Punch was partook of, and those fond of light wines and dancing said a good time was had by all.

PEEPUL WHAT RATES

We was at a rehearsal of "The Devil" show of Dick Masten's t'other eve, (The Devil Who Saw God is too long a title when we hafta pay for so much composition) and saw Sybil Leonard, Mr. Bates, Sheridan fils, and many others including the director, Mr. Frederick Burt.

We haven't been eating very much lately at the Carmel-Eta Inn owing to the fact that we still owe Sade Latham for that last cup of coffee.—(advt.)

But whilst pressing our collective noses agin the window pane we see Arthur Hately having cocoa. (more advt.)

Several people from here went to Monterey recently. Trade at home, folks!

Fine cooking is an art. Its our own idea that if you try us once. . . You will become a patron of our art!

The Del Monte Properties Co. is rumored to be considering giving away as advertising tokens to select visitors some dandy clothespins to be attached to said selece noserils when passing certain cannery sites.

Books on the lower, or dog shelf, of the Village Press outdoor book stand may be had at half price. —(advt.)

Jack Kunstman has a pretty big police dog.

Steve Patterson, who is just about the best cooker of abalone steaks in this country, has told us about the clamping down proclivities of these shell fish. We bet they are reincarnations of certain w. k. bankers.

If you see it in the Daily this morning, you'll prob'ly see it in the Herald tonight. Or in the P. G. at High Tide next week. (advt.)
